Thursday, July 15th 10a.m. -1:00p.m. (in English)
Day 4: Agile Training Development in a Virtual World

10:00– 11:00am

Session 7:

Agile Development: More Than a Buzzword?

Clara Neumayer (Fraunhofer Academy)

Lena Kurtz (Fraunhofer Academy)

Learning objectives:

How can we create and develop trainings in a fast changing environment? Which tools and templates from agile frameworks like SCRUM, Design Thinking or Kanban could help us to develop more customer focused training programs? During our impulse session we will provide you with a good mix of information and application through helpful tools and good practices.

Format:

Input and Practice

11:00– 12:00 a.m.

Session 8:

Panel Discussion: Best Practice Exchange on Education Projects Within an Agile Environment

Javier Rodenas (University of Barcelona): Deep Learning researcher and associate professor, project example EIT Health

Falko Kötter (Fraunhofer IAO): Team lead quantum computing, project example Fraunhofer Quantum Computing Education Team

Moderation: Clara Neumayer & Lena Kurtz

Learning objectives:

From which projects can we learn? Sharing is caring! We will talk about the differences between classical and agile project management styles, how to develop training programs more customer-centric and how to collaborate in a virtual team. If we have time we will also share our experiences on how the corona pandemic affected the program development

Format:

Panel Discussion (English)

12:00-1:00 p.m.

Session:

Networking & Co-Creation Lunch

Learning objectives:

How will learning look like in the future? Let's have an informal chat with other colleagues or participants. This session will give you the opportunity to connect and get insights into recent results of a questionnaire about future learning.

Format:

Virtual Meet & Greet
